Main Bio

Amanda Reeve's experience serving in the Arizona House of Representatives, in addition to her more than 20 years of working in the legal profession, ideally positions her as a key member of Snell & Wilmer's environmental and natural resources team. However, her passion, focus and expertise extend beyond the environmental and natural resources issues into other regulatory, policy and election-related areas. Amanda provides public policy services to clients through stakeholder identification and organization, the regulatory process and reform, and the legislative process. She is well known for her ability to develop public policy and craft bipartisan support to advance bills of significant importance to Arizona businesses.

While serving in the Arizona Legislature, Amanda Chaired the House Environment Committee and the Arizona State Agency Fee Commission working diligently on environmental and regulatory issues impacting Arizona. Presently, she is the Vice-Chair of the Air Quality Subcommittees for both the Arizona Mining Association and the Arizona Manufacturers Council. Additionally, Amanda serves as a Public Member Commissioner on the Maricopa County Superior Court Judicial Nominating Commission.

During her tenure serving as a State Legislator and even since in her role as a Policy Advisor, Amanda has received numerous accolades recognizing her leadership and work on significant policy measures, environmental issues and community projects.

She received her Bachelor of Arts in Communication Studies, Public Relations at California State University, Sacramento; and her Master of Science Technology in Environmental Management from the Ira A. Fulton Schools of Engineering at Arizona State University.

Representative Matters

- Drafted, sponsored, introduced and worked to pass numerous significant state legislation, all with bipartisan support, addressing: state agency fee authority, Maricopa County's course particulate matter nonattainment area, harmful synthetic compounds as dangerous drugs, air quality regulations, government regulation reform, the Arizona Voluntary Environmental Stewardship Program, and the energy and water savings account program.
- Facilitated an extensively collaborative and cooperative stakeholder process to revise and develop an approvable state implementation plan for the Maricopa County nonattainment area for course particulate matter.
- Navigated and participated in sensitive diplomatic discussions with political leaders, elected officials and students in Egypt and Tunisia regarding U.S. government and business relations during December 2012.

- Authored substantial public comments for submittal to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency on behalf of an industry association advocating support for the approval of a state implementation air plan.
- Worked to reduce the potential for client's financial exposure through analysis of policy, political, historical and legislative factors in determining the fate of key federal legislation and assessed the risks associated with escalating a multi-million dollar project.
- Collaborated with federal, state, and local agencies, industries, associations and non-governmental organizations on revising and developing an approvable state implementation plan for the Maricopa County non-attainment area. These efforts contributed to a historic announcement on May 30, 2014 by the U.S. EPA, approving the plan and declaring that after 43 years, Maricopa County had finally achieved compliance with the national air standards for coarse particulate matter (PM₁₀).
- In June 2014, received recognition from the Maricopa Association of Governments for being instrumental in developing and implementing cooperative solutions for compliance with national air standards and preventing the reclassification of Maricopa County as a non-attainment area for fine particulate matter (PM_{2.5}).
